House Bill 549 (Delegate Stukes, et al.)
Health and Government Operations Education, Health, and Environmental Affairs

---

General Provisions - Commemorative Days - Juneteenth National Freedom Day

---

This bill requires the Governor to annually proclaim June 19 as Juneteenth National Freedom Day.

The bill takes effect June 1, 2014.

Fiscal Summary

State Effect: Commemorating Juneteenth National Freedom Day does not affect State finances.

Local Effect: None.

Small Business Effect: None.

Analysis

Current Law: Eleven official commemorative days and five months are recognized in State law as shown in Exhibit 1. The Governor also must issue a proclamation each year encouraging citizens and other individuals to observe a moment of silence at 3 p.m. on Memorial Day to unite in remembrance and commemorate the heroic acts and efforts of Marylanders who have served and died in the U.S. Armed Forces.

Background: “Juneteenth” is the oldest holiday in the United States commemorating the end of slavery. It was on June 19, 1865, that the Union soldiers, led by Major General Gordon Granger, landed at Galveston, Texas with news that the war had ended and that the enslaved were now free. This was two and a half years after President Lincoln signed the Emancipation Proclamation, which had gone into effect January 1, 1863.

The news of freedom was met with shock and joy, and in subsequent years the now free men and women began to celebrate the day they heard of their freedom with their descendants. The celebration was particularly popular in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas, and California. Although it declined in popularity during the early twentieth century, there has recently been resurgence in interest in the holiday.

On January 1, 1980, Juneteenth became an official paid state holiday in Texas. Juneteenth is now recognized as a state holiday or state holiday observance in 42 states and the District of Columbia. Several presidents have also observed Juneteenth.
